The examples presented by the speakers were more relevant and adjoining to the concept discussed which were brilliantly amazing.

The objective of this National conference was to deliberate and discuss the early detection, treatment and management for children with Down Syndrome amongst various stakeholders to come out with approaches and strategies to address this important challenge. The main objective of the National Conference on Down Syndrome was to:-Prescreening of child , Early identification , early Intervention, Rehabilitation and management, Medical certificate, Identity card etc.

Overall, attending the conference organized by The National Trust was a fruitful result in the upcoming future. And for getting a chance to attend the conference with our students proved to be a boon for the whole institution and we are hoping to get more chances to attend such kind of conferences, seminars and workshops in the near future under such a helpful and oriented guidance.
