The event began with speech by Ms. Jyoti on “the critical need for enhanced voter education and engagement in the upcoming elections” The Students of B.Ed. SE, showed their creativity and imagination through posters. The students gave speech to create awareness among other students. It emphasizes the importance of reaching young and first-time voters through modern communication channels like social media and apps. voter pledge is a commitment made by citizens to participate in elections and typically involves a promise to vote in a specific upcoming election or to engage in the voting process generally. This type of pledge is often used by organizations and advocacy groups to increase voter turnout and to encourage civic participation. Here are some key aspects you might find in a voter pledge:
 Commitment to Vote: The core of a voter pledge is the commitment to vote in upcoming elections. This can be general or specific to certain types of elections (e.g., federal, state, local).
 Encouragement to Educate Oneself on Issues: Many pledges also encourage signers to inform themselves about the issues on the ballot and the positions of different candidates, promoting informed voting.

Promotion of Voter Registration: A pledge might include a reminder or a commitment to register to vote by a certain deadline, and to ensure one's voter registration details are up-to-date.

Advocacy for Participation: Pledges often include elements that encourage others to vote, such as sharing the pledge with friends and family, discussing important issues, or volunteering in voter mobilization efforts.

Personal Empowerment: By signing a pledge, individuals acknowledge the importance of their vote and empower themselves as active participants in their community and country.

Organizations may collect these pledges to track potential voter turnout, to remind individuals of their commitment as elections approach, and to build a community around civic engagement.

Personal Responsibility: Acknowledging that as a citizen, voting is a personal responsibility and a fundamental right in a democratic society.

Importance of Participation: Recognizing the importance of participating in the democratic process by casting a ballot in elections.

Impact of Each Vote: Understanding that each vote can make a difference in shaping the outcome of elections and influencing public policy.

Promotion of Civic Engagement: Encouraging not only voting but also broader civic engagement, such as attending town hall meetings, contacting elected representatives, and participating in community initiatives.

Commitment to Democratic Values: Affirming a commitment to the principles of democracy, including equality, freedom, and justice, and recognizing that voting is a way to uphold these values.

Inclusivity and Diversity: Embracing the diversity of perspectives and experiences within the community and recognizing the importance of ensuring that all voices are heard through the electoral process.

Continuous Participation: Pledging to continue participating in elections beyond the current one, recognizing that democracy requires ongoing engagement and vigilance.

Encouragement of Others: Encouraging friends, family members, and colleagues to also pledge to vote and to actively participate in the democratic
